“With our new national contracts, we can now take the unprecedented step of offering a guaranteed income of at least £500 per week for the first six months to new franchisees coming on board!”

An exciting start to 2005 has seen SuperSeal International Ltd obtain various multi-national contracts and receive its new ISO 9001:2000 certification for the manufacture, supply and installation of its tyre sealant product. SuperSeal is also an approved supplier for the MOD through its procurement service.

As well as being the manufacturer and supplier of SuperSeal, SuperSeal International Ltd offers an auto-franchisee opportunity worldwide. They are a member of the British, Irish and International Franchise Associations. Also available are Master Licence packages for countries worldwide. SuperSeal International conforms and adheres to high standards, work and training ethics, as exemplified by the British Franchise Association.

National Sales Manager Russell Cox said: “It’s been a fabulous start to the year. We not only have maintained our high levels of certification and business growth unique in the marketplace but with new national contracts we can now take the unprecedented step of offering a guaranteed income of at least £500 per week for the first six months to new franchisees coming on board. As the world leaders in this market we only see ourselves going from strength to strength and with exciting new product developments we will only continue to grow. As a potential franchisee you will only buy one franchise as your business, therefore it makes sense to buy the best in the market.”

This means safe tyres and no more punctures. Launched in 1999 SuperSeal International Ltd is a company that services and protects pneumatic tyres on all wheeled vehicles. SuperSeal can offer multiple advantages and value to its clients - improved safety, a more comfortable ride, immense savings on tyre wear and fuel costs, guaranteed deliveries and (although not high on some people's list) helping to protect the environment.

Every owner of the estimated 26 million vehicles on our roads today is a potential customer, and it's a market that grows year on year. Looking after both private and commercial users, we can successfully treat tyres for cars (including cars with very low profile, high performance tyres, with not a hint of imbalance), military vehicles, vans, trucks, motorcycles, caravans, construction plant and agricultural machinery, buses, coaches, etc. Any vehicle or machine that has a pneumatic tyre can be successfully treated with SuperSeal.

*"I became a franchisee with SuperSeal following months of research into this type of product. SuperSeal's ability to repair punctures as they occur in any type of vehicle on the road or off road, coupled with good customer feedback, tells me that I made the right choice of product for my business. I am looking forward to a good future both financially and in job satisfaction, knowing that this product and service could become a major accessory to vehicle maintenance and aid road safety."
